It is HOT. This weather is dangerous to most all of us. Please be sure to stay hydrated daily. Dehydration is your body shutting down and it is nothing to take lightly. The humidity here in our lovely area is another condition that will take it's toll on your body, especially if you have heart or lung problems. I am saying all this because I care about you and I want all of us to be safe out there.

We are looking forward to Chapter T's camping adventure in Hiawassee at The River Bend Campground coming up July 31 thru August 4th. I know many of you have made your reservations to camp with us and some have booked hotel rooms, if you haven't yet..what are you waiting on? I promise you will have a great time. Great friends, good food, a lot of lies and laughter and the awesome mountain curves...like I said FUN.

Riding, friends, fun and of course food...what could be better?

"Participation Is the Key to Enjoying Life with Chapter T"

As usual please watch your email or listen for a phone call for more information on rides and dinners.

Georgia District COY in Travel

On 28 May we left Washington, DC and rode to Connecticut to visit with our son John and his wife Karen. The four of us left 06 June toward Lake George, NY for Americade 2019. That very same day before we left the Little Boy (Jim's trike) decided it was not going anywhere. The battery went dead so a new one was purchased but still would not run. John and I jump started it and got it to the local Honda shop. We left on Sylvia's trike -- it was only fitting that I take the back seat. After about 10 miles she said I was too much of a back seat driver so we pulled over and I took the drive from there on in.

How would I describe Americade 2019 -- To me it was one BIG GWRRA Rally.

On 09 June, we rode on to Mt. Washington, New Hampshire, where we encountered a bear cub on the side of the road -- it decided to run back into the forest looking for mama bear. Once we arrived, it was decided that we did not need to ride up eight miles on a very narrow road.

We took the van tour, and of course, I had my eyes closed all the way up. The weatherman was wrong again -- it was in the high 70's and no wind. Even the tour guide was amazed. I never once got close to the end or looked down !! Sylvia will have to tell you all about it.

On 10 June, as we headed back to Connecticut, and had another "expect the unexpected" moment. A deer darted out in front of us. I slowed down and kept the trike straight, just before another deer ran across the road with us missing it by about a foot in front of us. We got back to Groton and spent extra days with family. I went fishing with John, and I celebrated my seventh-fifth birthday.

On 15 June, we headed south to Norwalk, Connecticut. Next day (16th) we elected not to take the trikes and experience the metro rail going into New York City (and an experience it was -- but...it was a bucket list item J J) We went to the 9-11 memorial and St Paul's church. The next day (17th) we again headed to NY by metro rail and this time added a city bus for a tour boat around Ellis Island, Statue of Liberty and lower Manhattan. While we were making our way back to the dock it started to sprinkle so Sylvia put on her rain liner, and I thought I would put mine on as well -- however, I couldn't zip it up, much less put it around me -- Sylvia looked content watching all the sites, and I'm getting wet, so I asked her, "Do you have my rain liner on", she said, "I don't think so", we each checked the size label -- and.....guess what, she had my rain liner on!! I just knew I hadn't gained any weight, (she is still laughs about me looking like a wet hen while she was warm and cozy -- Hmmm! who would have received the Dumbo award.)

On 19 June, we started out on our trip to Niagara Falls. Due to once again heavy rains it took two days before we arrived in Niagara Falls, New York. Next day we took a van tour to see the sites at both the American and Canadian side.

We experienced the Maid of the Mist boat tour, where we got soaked to the bones but fun. (Jim relived his days out at sea – you could see it in his eyes.); and Cave of the Winds, where we again given a poncho and this time sandals as well. It was a long walk up. I decided to wait in an area where I could watch the side of the falls and watch the 200+ seagulls fly over all the tourists – OH THE SMELL !

Sylvia on the other hand decided she was going to continue climbing, along with the other crazy people, toward Hurricane Deck and experience hurricane 1 force of winds and rain. I don't doubt she YAHOOO'd at the top. She was the last one on the bus, wet and laughing. We were then taken to a restaurant that was located on top of a VERY tall tower, and they had the nerve to ask me if I was going up – I looked up and saw the elevators outside the building going up – "I THINK NOT" was my response. Again, my lady leaves me – she was with the first group going up! Folks, this part was not part of the "Bucket List".

On 25 June, we started out toward to Pennsylvania to the site of FLT 93 that crashed in a field on 9-11. However, at a DQ stop, about fifty miles from the site we received a message that John fell off a loading dock at work in Rhode Island. He shattered his left ankle. We put a halt on our Bucket List road trip and re-routed back to Connecticut. He had surgery past Tuesday 03 July (and has plates and screws on each side of his ankle and will not be able to put any weight on it for four to six months. We anticipate to be heading toward home the latter part of the month.

We will miss being with our members at Loco's at our next meeting on 11 July, but know that we carry each one of you, our members, in our hearts and thoughts.

Be safe, keep the rubber down and the sunny side up, lets ride -- YAHOOOO !! (Sylvia's Victory Yell). Blessings to You & Yours
